

FEGAP

Jungian analyst/ psychotherapist training program

Tallinn
Starting from Sept 2024

Mission

The purpose of the training program is to qualify candidates to practice analytical psychology at a level that is consistent with the international standard for Jungian analysts, according to the standards of the International Association for Analytical Psychology (IAAP).

Important facts

- 5 year curriculum
- Study languages Estonian, English and Finnish
- IAAP certified training and lecturers
- The program is designed to be compatible with a full-time professional activity

Admission criteria

- Master's degree in psychology, higher education in medicine or, in special cases other relevant master's degrees in health, social work, social sciences, or humanities. Exceptions will be considered case by case
- Compatible personality
- At least 25 hours of analysis
- Completion of the course "C. G. Jung and Analytical Psychology" or similar introductory courses or additional hours of analysis

The full program is available on our website www.fegap.org

Contact:

Monika.Luik@gmail.com
Hreiljan@hotmail.com

CERTIFIED TRAINING IN JUNGIAN ANALYSIS
LEADING TO MEMBERSHIP OF THE IAAP