

The trail starts in the yard of RMK Oandu Nature Centre.

Its length is 3.4 km and you can have a look at our traditional buildings, hayland, forest and the village road leads you back to the yard. The trail has been marked on trees and marked out with stakes. There are 27 places of interest provided with the information boards in Estonian and English. It is an easy walk.

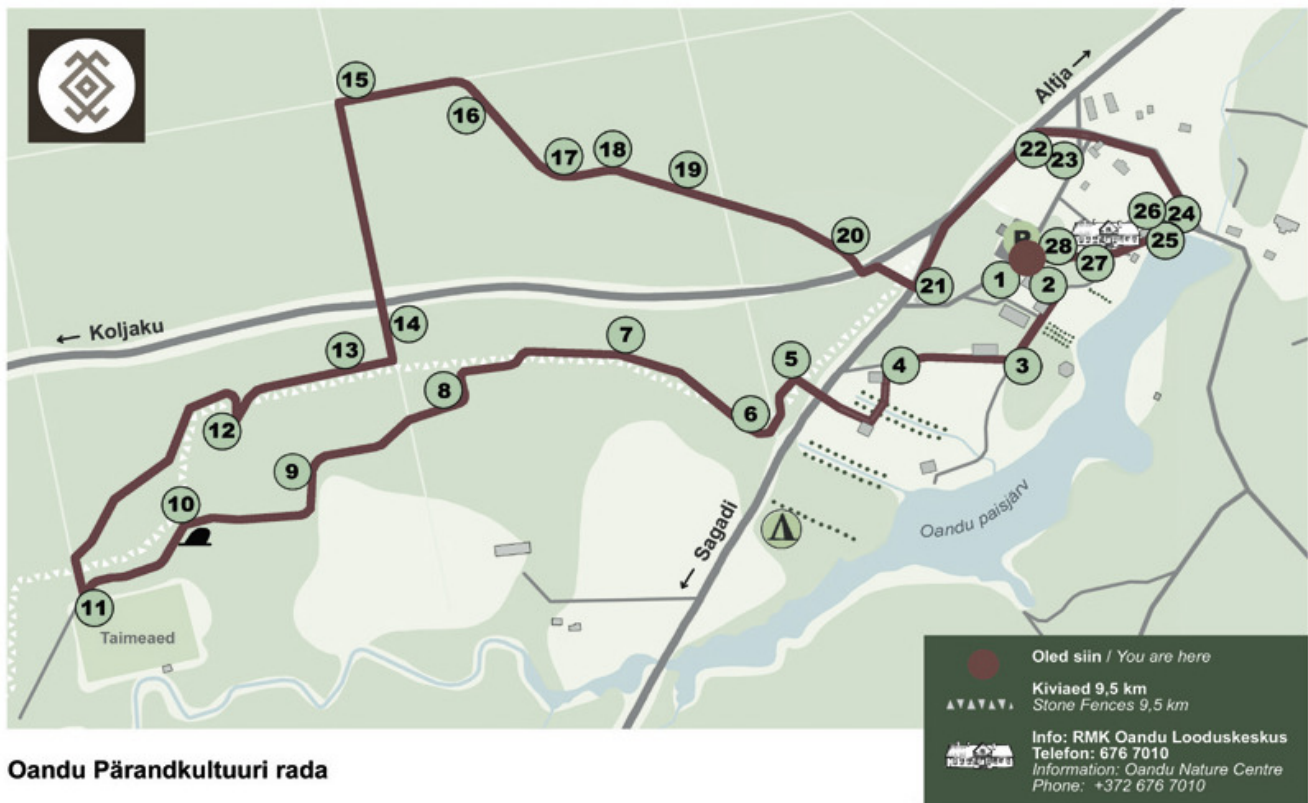

The trail is for free use to everybody on the basis of everybody's right.

The exhibition buildings of the Nature Centre can be visited free of charge during the business hours of the Centre.

In the surrounding forests and roadsides we have found visible traces about the life and the work done by former generations.

In the inventory of 2007 over a hundred objects of cultural heritage were registered and by now some new findings have been added. Several kilometres of stone fences have become overgrown with moss, patches of hayland overgrown with bushes and old verst stones (milestones) remind us of bygone times. While walking on the village road you can have a look at the buildings of the former dairy farm which was attached to Sagadi manor and the water mill.

It goes without saying that you respect the peace of local people.
