

Authors

- Sarmīte Baltiņa
1952
MA (history, University of Latvia), Head of the Post War History Department of the Latvian War Museum.
- Jens Boysen
1968
PhD (history, Eberhard Karl University, Tübingen), Research Fellow in Contemporary History at the German Historical Institute Warsaw, Poland.
- James Sterling Corum
1953
PhD (history, Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario), Professor, Dean of the Baltic Defence College (2009–2014), Lecturer of Terrorism and Security Studies at the University of Salford (since 2014), Lieutenant Colonel (ret., US Army Reserve), a graduate of Army Command and General Staff College and Air War College.
- Ants Laaneots
1948
Chief of Staff (1991–1994 and 1997–1999) and Commander of the Estonian Defence Forces (2006–2011) of the Estonian Defence Forces, General (2011). A graduate of Malinovsky Military Academy of Armoured Forces (Moscow) and NATO Defence College (Rome).
- Hellar Lill
1973
MA (history, University of Tartu), Director of the Estonian War Museum – General Laidoner Museum.
- Reet Naber
1952
MA (history, University of Tartu), History and Public Relations Consultant of the Estonian Navy.

- Toe Nõmm
1953
PhD (history, University of Tartu),
Head of the Armament Bureau of the Procurement Department of the Estonian Ministry of Defence.
- Henrik Praks
1974
MA (law, University of Tartu, and East European Studies, Berlin Free University),
a Lecturer in Strategic Studies at the Department of Political and Strategic Studies in the Baltic Defence College and an advisor of the Estonian Institute of Human Rights.
- Hain Rebas
1943
Dr. (history, University of Gothenburg),
Professor a.D. of Nordic History at the Christian Albrecht University of Kiel
(1980–2008). Major (res.) of the Swedish
Armed Forces. He served as Minister of Defence of Estonia in 1992–1993.
- Prokop Tomek
1965
PhD (history, Charles University, Prague),
Research Fellow at the Military History
Institute in Prague.
- Trivimi Velliste
1947
Minister of Foreign Affairs of Estonia in 1992–1994, Permanent Representative of Estonia to the United Nations 1994–1998 and an adviser to the Minister of Defence in 1998–1999. Member of the Parliament in 1992–1994 and 1999–2011. Chairman of the General Johan Laidoner Society. A graduate of the University of Tartu (English language and psychology).