Wheel bearing sets – MAPCO's second largest range of parts

Wheel bearing kits and hubs are typical wear parts in a vehicle and represent the second largest and most rapidly growing product group at MAPCO Autotechnik. This group comprises about 740 part numbers which offer a 95 per cent coverage of the German passenger car and van market. Many high quality wheel bearing units of the latest generation, including wheel hubs, ABS sensors and add-on materials, are included. Some applications demand special tools and these can be bought or rented from MAPCO.

Axle boots often neglected

The Drive Train / Bearings product family also includes prop shafts and joint sets with ABS rings, axle boots and steering boots, and universal axle boot sets with the corresponding tools. In general, too little attention is paid to a vehicle's axle boots. Here workshops have the opportunity to save their customers costly consequential damage to the drive shafts through the early detection of wear and appropriate replacements. To ensure the correct installation and replacement of universal axle boots MAPCO offers customers a removal and installator
