

ROLES

Food producers

Farmer

You are a specialist in growing grain.

Things you know:

- Wheat is indispensable for many bakery products as well as pasta
- Rice is a nutrient rich in protein and vitamins

Insectfarmer

You are a specialist in the food of the future, you know that insects get a lot of protein and vitamins that people need for food more easily and without high water and feed consumption.

Beekeeper

You are a specialist in beekeeping and you know that many things that people eat and consume depend on the presence and pollination of bees - apples, berries, broccoli, potatoes, beans, cotton, flax, etc. Without bee pollination, these plants do not produce any crops at all.

Fish farmer

You are a specialist in salmon farming. You know that the human brain needs fatty acids from fish and that it is relatively easy to grow fish regardless of water consumption.

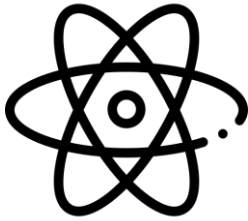

Loomakasvataja

Oled spetsialist loomade kasvatamise alal. Asjad, mida sa tead:

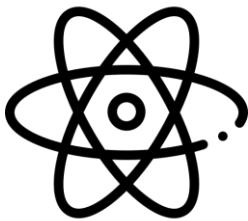

- Lehmad nõuavad palju vett ning loomasööta, aga piim ja piimatooted on suur osa inimeste dieedist
- Lambad nõuavad palju vett ning loomasööta, aga annavad nii piima, liha kui ka villa

Scientist

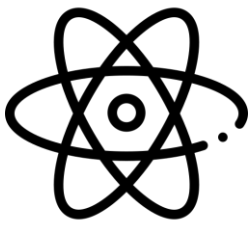

Botanist

You are a scientist who studies plants. You know that no plant grows well on its own, but should be part of a larger ecosystem.

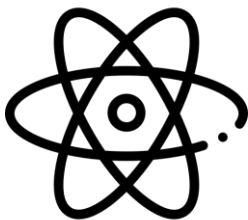

Zoologist

You are a scientist who studies animals. You know that no animal lives well alone, but should be part of a larger food chain.

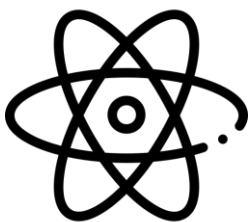

Chemist

You are a scientist who studies the composition of substances and their chemical properties.

Botanist 2

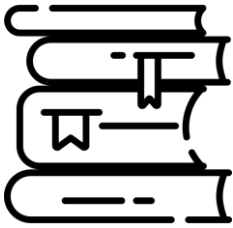

You are a scientist who studies plants. You know that no plant grows well on its own, but should be part of a larger ecosystem.

Zoologist 2

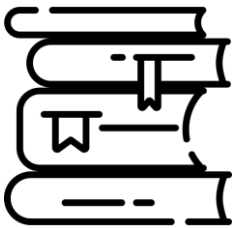

You are a scientist who studies animals. You know that no animal lives well alone, but should be part of a larger food chain.

Cultural specialist

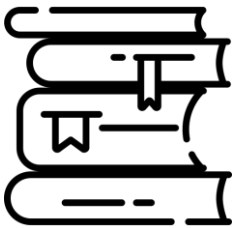

Historian

You are a scientist who studies the history of mankind. You want Mars to bring historically important artifacts and information.

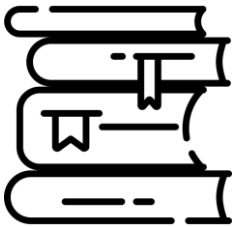

Musician / artist

Whether you are a musician or an artist (choose for yourself), you want to bring culturally important musical instruments or art supplies and information to Mars.

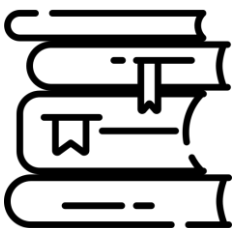

Internet fame

You are a social media star. You want Mars to have all the information about how the Internet works to rebuild it.

Writer / philosopher

You are a writer or a philosopher (choose yourself). You want to bring culturally and historically important objects and information to Mars.

Athlete

You are a top athlete and you will find that all people should be in the best physical shape to survive on Mars. You want all kinds of sports equipment to be brought to Mars.

Corporations

Mili-Corp

You are the leader and owner of a large military industry. You know that humanity will never be at peace for too long, and you want Mars to have a secure future for your industry and for people to buy weapons from you.

IT-Corp

You are the leader and owner of a large IT corporation. You know that power lies in data and information, and you want Mars to have all the servers with the data you need. In addition, you want to bring your own private server with all your business secrets and prototypes of germ applications.

Medi-Corp

You are the leader and owner of a large pharmaceutical corporation. You want Mars to have a monopoly on the pharmaceutical industry. In addition, you want to bring your cryogenically frozen ancestors with you to revive them sometime with future technology.

Food-Corp

You are the leader and owner of a large food industry. You want most of food production on Mars to remain your monopoly

Energy-Corp

You are the leader and owner of a large energy corporation. You want the production of lithium batteries to remain your monopoly on Mars as well.

Government

Minister of Agriculture

You are responsible for the national food supply. You want Mars to be able to feed people.

Minister of Culture and Education

You are responsible for national cultural and educational policy. In addition to everything you need for life, you want Mars to bring some culturally important items and information.

Minister of Defense

You are responsible for national security. You fear that conflicts will soon arise in the tight conditions of Mars, and you want the country to be equipped with weapons to quell those conflicts.

Minister of the Environment

You are responsible for maintaining ecosystems at the national level. You support the call by naturalists for the species that make up the entire food chain to accompany Mars.

Minister of Economic Affairs

You are responsible for the country's economic policy. You want to create a new economic model on Mars where power is still in the hands of the state. To do this, you want the country to be provided with gold that can be used as money.