The Curious Journey of a Curious Mind:

During one of his many travels, The Curious Mind ventured along the 41st Northern Parallel and through the azure waters around the Mediterranean Sea. Wandering through gnarled groves of cork oaks, PJ came upon the rustic Sardinian country village of Siniscola.

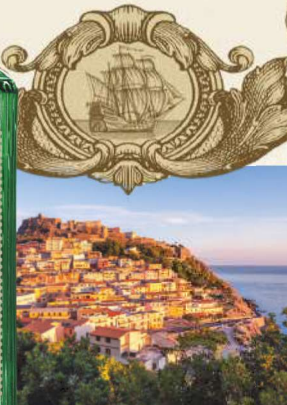

The local people introduced him to the rare "Sa pompia" or Citrus monstrosa.

PJ Rigney's Curious Mind started to unravel how hints of this uniquely fragrant and wholly unusual relative of the orange and grapefruit would meld with the exotic, oriental aromas and mysterious finish of Drumshanbo Gunpowder Irish Gin.
