» despite it all, project participants have a positive and empowering experience

Given the positive and empowering experiences the programmes still do provide in the face of multiple crises:
Do we do enough to recognise the effort and, crucially, to minimise the burden?

Seeing that addressing key sociopolitical challenges is becoming more important for young people joining the programme: Which balance of project types do we envisage for the next generation?

PROGRAMMES

$G01Q02 Frequencies

Got to know about the project - been in similar projects before

$G01Q02 Frequencies
Got to know about the project – newcomers to the programme

» friends are crucial for newcomers

Seeing the importance of word of mouth especially for newcomers to the European youth programmes:

Do we do enough to strengthen various forms of ambassadorship?

ZOOMING OUT:

PROGRAMME

OBJECTIVES

In your opinion, to what extent did the project contribute to the general objectives of the Erasmus+ programme? ...

In your opinion, to what extent did the project contribute to the strategic objectives of Erasmus+ Youth?

» policy aspects remain weak

Seeing that all policy-related objectives remain weakest in comparison to others:

Are these the right kind of objectives?

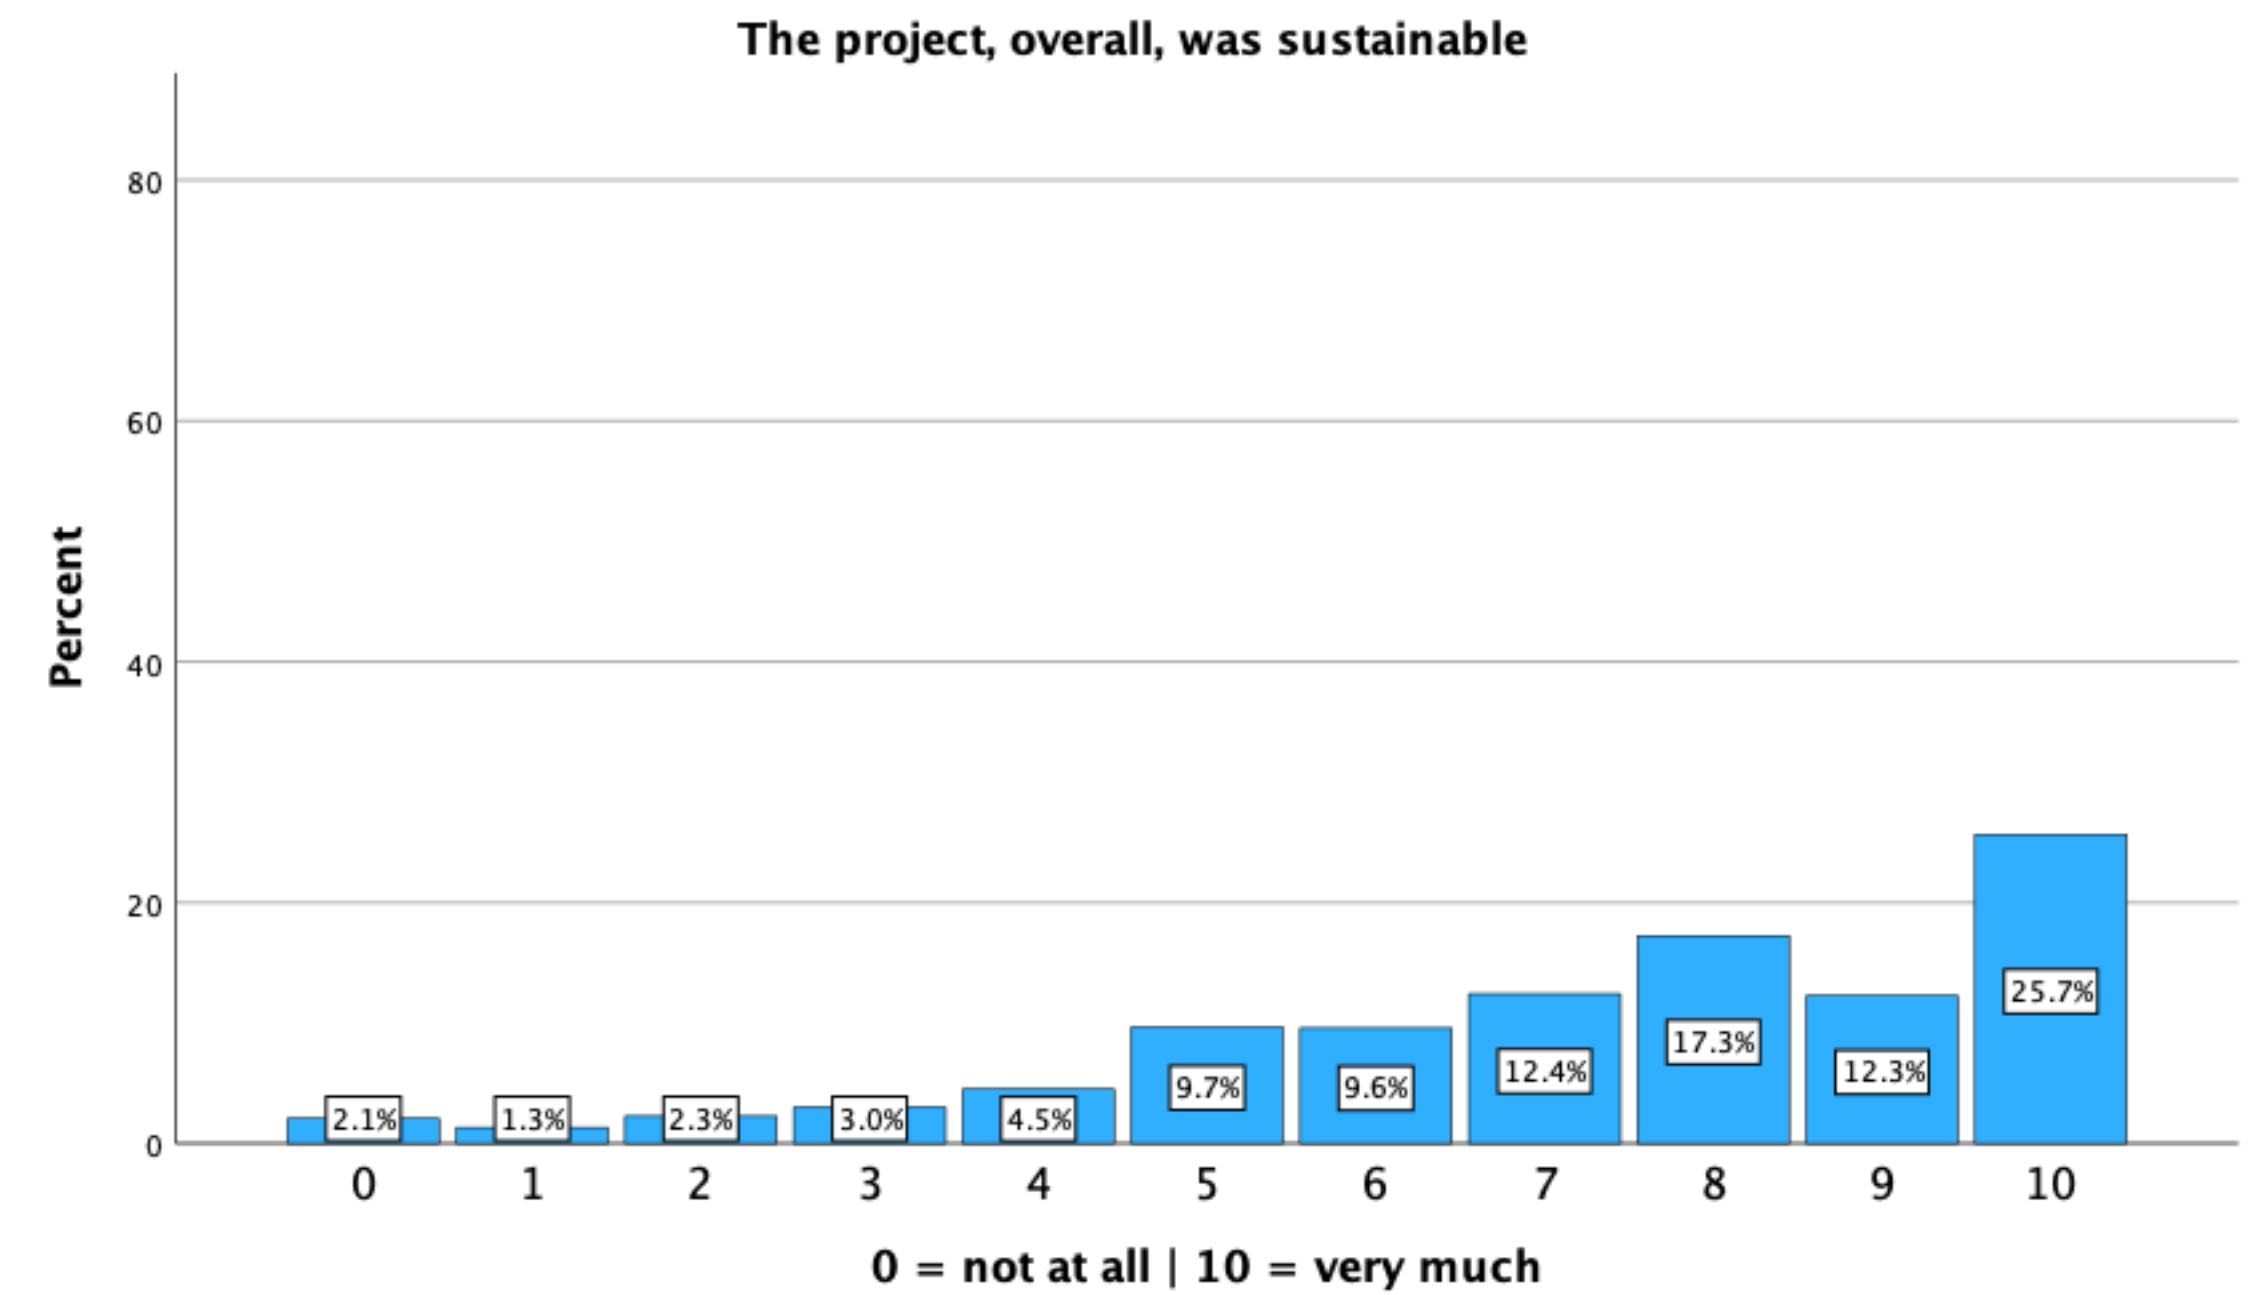

Do we have the right kind of activities for these objectives?

ZOOMING OUT:

PROGRAMME

PRIORITIES

» digitalisation crashes, big time

Seeing that digitalisation really suffers,

also owed to pandemic circumstances:

What will we do to get digitalisation out of the boogeyman corner and facilitate serious engagement with a serious topic?

The project made a positive change in the local community.

» impact is real

Seeing the power of the programmes, even if “only” through the eyes of those who have already participated in them:
Do we have enough resources to make such experiences available for all young people in Europe who’d want them?

QUICK

RECAP

the burden of providing empowering experiences in our time

balance of project types to tackle sociopolitical challenges strategies to strengthen previous participants as ambassadors addressing policy objectives through projects: is that clever?

get digitalisation out of the boogeyman corner: how?

resources to widen the reach of the programmes

(more to come as the analysis progresses...)
