Preface

It is difficult to make much progress if a sport is so small in your country. Estonia has only some hundred participants and 6 competitions this year, no artificial ice and even no 400 meter rink. Therefore it is remarkable that every year we can celebrate a little victory in the effort to climb to the international level of speed skating. Last year we had a breakthrough with Estonian speed skaters participating in World Cups and European championships. This winter we saw even the first championships medal. Marten Iiv scored a bronze medal on the 1000 meter at the junior world championships in Changchun, China. And he also performed well during the junior World Cup cycle. In the World Cups Saskia Alusalu participated in all stages, Marten was allowed to participate from December.

More and more Estonian speed skaters participate abroad. Results are improving. The international training teams paid off. However, this improvement of the skaters with higher speed, may be a risk on the small track in Adavere. It would help the progress if there would come a second venue where speed skating competitions could be organised. Moreover, another location attracts also new skaters.

Weather prevented many competitions on domestic ice. Some competitions had to be postponed or even be cancelled. There were only two marathon competitions.

There was the first short track championships in the Tondiraba Jäähall. As there are some more indoor rinks available in Estonia this is probably the most promising speed skating discipline for Estonia.
