Preface

It is 100 years ago that we registered the first results of Estonian pioneers in speed skating. Artur Kukk, an allround sportsman, was the best skater in the first years. Christfried Burmeister and Aleksander Mitt dominated during the 1920's and 1930's. In the Soviet period there was, of course, Ants Antson. But how good were they? To bring back some memories, and to compare the skaters of today with those of the old days you will find a list of national best ever results of the past 100 years.

Skating in Estonia is still depending on weather conditions. And it was the weather that prevented the Estonians to skate more races than two competitions in their own country. There was no Kuldne 1500, no National championship and no Kalevipoja uisu-maraton. But, more than ever, the Estonian skaters went abroad to compete in international races. Märt Markus was even entered into the start lists of the World Junior Championships in Changchun, China.

Although we find the Estonian skaters still in the bottom of the result list of most competition, there is progress. Two years ago we noticed six new national records, last year there were 17. This year we counted 20 times a national best result. To make more progress there is the need of training facilities. Estonia still lacks a 400 meter track, although there is some discussion going on to realize this. There was even a delegation sent to the Netherlands to discuss the best accommodation facilities for Estonia, and to make use of the knowledge of the Dutch. But will this result in a 400 meter icerink? Time will tell.

Most of the current top skaters are still very young and hopefully they will continue skating in the years to come. And if they do, and the training facilities will improve, and they will get serious attention and support from their national federation then we might see Estonia in the big international championships. Probably the first goal is to compete in the Olympic Games in Vancouver. There are only two skaters who ever competed for Estonia during the Olympics before, Christfried Burmeister (1928) and Aleksander Mitt (1928 and 1936), so there is a challenge.

History

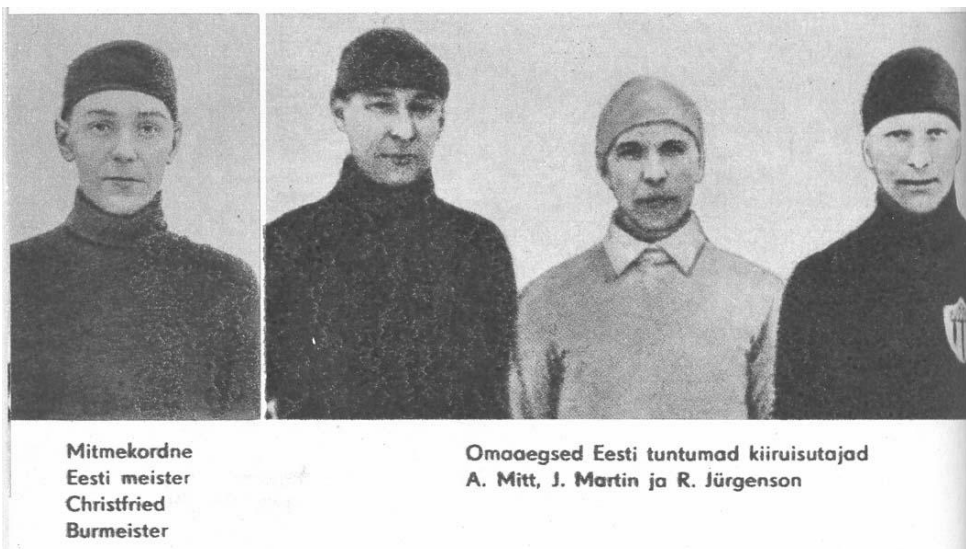

Speed skating in Estonia has already a tradition of one hundred years. But who were these skaters of the old days? What results do we know of them?

In 1910 the first national champion was Artur Kukk. We know he skated in a competition in Tallinn already in January 1908, 100 years ago. Christfried Burmeister was the first Estonian skater in the Olympic Games and Ants Antson was the last. Antson's gold medal is still remembered in the yearly "kuldne 1500" skating match. And what to think of Aleksander Mitt, who was Estonian champion ten times.

To compare their personal best results I have collected them in this adelskalenderen.

Hille Sarapuu tuli kahel korral vabariigi meistriks ja püstitas rekordeid. Siis pööras ta uisutamisele selja, hakkas tegelema mootorisportidega ja sai sel alal meistersportlaseks
